

OPEN

Blue and White season in 1922. The season here which With Princeton

The football season will be officially ushered into Marion on next Saturday when the Blue and White opens the argument with Princeton. According to John Oliver's "almanac" the weather will be the best that can be dished out for the occasion at this season.

The Blue and White is fast rounding into form and shows signs of becoming a championship outfit. The backfield with Brown, Wikel, Capt. Wilson and Dillard is equal to the best in the C. I. A. At center we still have the old reliable John Oliver and at ends we have Travis and Hicklin. Belt and Gass will easily take care of the tackle positions and Towery, Hughes and Wicker will handle the situation on either side of the center. We have a husky bunch of second string men who will have plenty of opportunities to get action before many games have been played this season.

The season's schedule is very attractive, there being ten games on the list. These are:

Sept. 23, Princeton at Marion
Sept. 30, Marion at Owensboro
Oct. 7, Marion at Paducah
Oct. 14, Greenville at Marion
Oct. 21, Clay at Marion
Oct. 28, Marion at Morganfield
Nov. 4, Marion at Sturgis
Nov. 11, Marion at Henderson
Nov. 18, Marion at Clay
Nov. 30, Providence at Marion

The home games will be played at Cooks Park, Mr. Cook having offered the grounds to the school for use in all athletic events.

RESIGNS PASTORATE

Rev. N. C. Lamb of Dawson Springs who has for a number of years been pastor of the Freedom Freewill Baptist church, has resigned owing to the infirmities of old age. He preached his closing sermon at this church last Sunday to a good sized congregation. Mr. Lamb is 73 years old, has been in the ministry for 50 years and during the last 28 years has missed only two appointments, although his pastorates were widely apart, in this and adjoining counties.

It is not known who will succeed him as pastor of the Freedom church. Freedom is one of the oldest organizations in the county, having been organized soon after Crittenden was made a county and Marion founded as its county seat.

The pastor will preach next Sunday morning and evening and a large congregation is expected. All are cordially invited.

The year for the Marion is very promising. The course of study has been enlarged this year to include a Department of Home Economics under the direction of Miss Helen E. Williams of St. Petersburg, Fla., who received her degree in Home Economics from the Florida State College for Women last Spring. The department was quickly filled with eager students. There are forty enrolled in this department.

The enrollment up to date has reached more than 160 and new students are being enrolled every day. Last year during the entire year we enrolled 164 and if the same ratio continues until the close of the year the enrollment will reach nearly 200.

The senior class has organized with twenty-two members. Richard Hicklin is president. The class is planning to put out an Annual this year. In addition to the Annual the class is backing the Lyceum Course. This course is probably the best ever given in Marion High School.

The Parent-Teacher Association has just elected officers for the year and has begun to plan its work for the fall. Mrs. Ira T. Pierce is the new president and may be seen daily about the business of the organization.

The football team is going to be a wonder this year. From twenty-five to thirty boys are in uniform every day following the ball across the field. The business men of Marion are backing the school and the team.

Literary activities are beginning to take form. The faculty play will be given Oct. 13. On Oct. 27, Operetta; Nov. 2, Clifford Footet Trio, Lyceum Number; Dec. 15, Christmas Play.

OLD RESIDENT VISITS MARION

Mr. A. S. Threlkeld, a former Marion citizen, returned Monday for a short visit. Mr. Threlkeld left here forty-two years ago and he reports that when he got off the train Monday he met only a crowd of strangers. Not a person recognized him, and not a soul was there he recognized. He might as well have been in Timbuctoo. He says the town looks strange to him and that even the hills around seem flattened out and unnatural. After being here twenty-four hours he says he saw but two people that lived here when he left. C. E. Doss and W. L. Bigham. Mr. Threlkeld's home is now in Fredonia.

ARM BROKEN

J. D. Asher, Jr., the ten-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Asher, fell from the station platform at the I. C. Depot Friday night and broke his left arm below the elbow in two places. Drs. Cook and Frazer dressed the wounds and the injuries are improving. The child had gone to the station to meet his sister and was playing on the platform with other boys when the accident occurred.

Mr. D. O. Boaz of Fredonia was in Marion Tuesday.

Indicate this year of the biggest making every plan to take of the extensive exhibits that are scheduled to come. A large tent will be erected on the grounds to properly house the displays that should be under cover. In case it rains facilities will be such that there will not be the discomfort that was unavoidable last year. Keen interest is shown in the dairy department which will be in charge of John A. Moore. Crittenden is rapidly coming to the front as a dairy county and that is a very good index of better times for those engaged in it. There is a great need of better quality milk cows, higher producing animals, ones that return more money for the feed invested. It will pay every one interested to visit that department on Fair Day.

The Woman's Club will have a booth for the sale of refreshments and lunch on the grounds so that will be taken care of.

The school exhibit in charge of Mrs. Dave Postlethweight should interest every teacher. The outline of articles upon which the award will be based is as follows: manual training, miniature exhibits of all hand constructed wood work to be made by pupils themselves, ages 6 to 18.

Domestic science, hand made articles to be made by pupils between the ages of 6 and 18. School work, maps, drawings, compositions and direct school work which can be exhibited.

And last but not least who will have the finest baby in the county? This is a great honor and whoever misses seeing the babies will miss one of the big parts of the Fair.

A list of events including the time of each will be printed in next week's paper. Watch for it and plan so you will not miss the event in which you are most interested.

The New Salem Community Club held a very successful picnic at their school last Saturday. Speeches, athletic games, a basket dinner and a ball game comprised the program. The address of the day was given by Judge C. S. Numa.

The County Agent has held a number of poultry culling demonstrations in the county for the purpose of showing how to remove the kaiser hens from the flock and the interest evident speaks well for the profit that is to come through proper poultry care. He has a number of open dates the first week in October and communities that have never had this work would do well to arrange a date. He will be glad to hold a demonstration wherever there is sufficient interest. Culling intelligently practiced will help any poultry producer.

The Olive Branch Junior Agricultural Club is developing a poultry culling team under the instruction of Mrs. Ben Drennan and Miss Ethel Hunt. This club is composed of four girl members who are raising poultry for their project. Their first demonstration will be held at the Olive Branch school grounds on Saturday Sept. 23.

Kentucky crop prospects September first indicated the production of a corn crop of about 88,155,000 bu., as compared to 82,150,000 bushels for 1921 according to the September crop report issued by Commissioner of Agriculture W. S. Hanna. Farmers of Crittenden county would do well to see if they have the hogs and cattle to adequately care for this large prospective crop.

SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS

County Superintendent J. L. F. Paris reports that there is a shortage of teachers for the rural schools in this county, there being six school districts that have not procured teachers. Mr. Paris attributes the shortage of teachers mainly to the workings of the new school laws.

MANLEY AND GASKINS "NOT GUILTY"

Henderson Jury Returns Verdict of Acquittal on Assault Charge

George H. Manley and J. L. Gaskins, federal prohibition agents, were tried before Judge Hunt, at Henderson, Thursday on a charge of drawing concealed deadly weapons on George Green, former sheriff, when several agents and some members of the police force made a raid north of Henderson last June. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict of acquittal.

Green testified that he and Ed Pressley were driving a well on the farm of W. A. Stevens, who had given him permission to feed hogs there. While thus engaged he was surprised by the raiders. The first demand for "hands up" was complied with by Green, but Pressley hesitated until a second command from Agent Gaskins, accompanied with presented rifle, caused him to raise his hands also.

The federal agents testified that a still was in operation in the Horse-shoe Bend and it was their duty to investigate; that the barrels found where Green was sinking the well indicated that they had been used as containers for mash, and that only one rifle, that of Gaskins, was presented at Green and Pressley, which was caused by the refusal of Pressley to obey orders.

Judge Belaurum of Lexington was chief counsel for the prohibition officers, and F. J. Pentecost was special attorney for the prosecution.

At a former trial held in a magistrate's court the federal agents were given a fine of $100 each.

A DOLEFUL OUTLOOK

The long dark nights are approaching and we hear of no effort being made to furnish street lights for the city.

What greater calamity could befall than to remain in darkness when we have a light plant already installed. It looks to us like the difficulty could and ought to be overcome and give us lights. What say you Councilmen and Citizens?

While looking over the political field for a good strong man to be the Democratic nominee for Governor of Kentucky, we beg leave to voice the sentiments of many voters in this part of the state, at least, when we suggest the name of Judge C. S. Nunn, of Marion, be not overlooked in this connection. Judge Nunn has not announced himself as a candidate nor do we know that he contemplates doing so; yet the Press is of the opinion that he would be a mighty good man to put out. In every way he is a good, clean man and if elected would make such a Governor as Kentucky needs.

Judge Nunn is an attorney of rare ability and is a forceful speaker. He began his political career when in his "teens" in connection with the lamented O. M. James, as page in the Kentucky Legislature and has been on the political hustler ever since, though, except serving a term as Judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals and one term as State Senator he has never asked for office. What's the matter with Judge C. S. Nunn as Democratic nominee for Governor of Kentucky?

HAVE STAKE IN COMMUNITY

Home-owning Citizens Feel Responsibility of Their Position and Govern Themselves Accordingly.

It almost goes without saying that home ownership is by far the most valuable adjunct to government and that the former is a tremendous power in stabilizing the latter. The nomad constantly desires change, because wherever he pitches his tent he considers himself to be at home. On the other hand, the responsible property owner abhors nothing so much as change, because his hearth is not one which can be moved and which would be the last thing he would wish to see affected. The classic illustration, which has been used before this by many writers, is that of Alexander's conquest of Persia; this country was a constant source of civil war and rebellion until, acting upon the advice of one of the philosophers attached to his court, Alexander saw to it that the Persians became a nation of shopkeepers, which in turn caused them to set up permanent dwellings and ultimately to become the most peaceful and law-abiding citizens. The irresponsible cowboy was inclined in the old days to shoot-up frontier towns, since if the neighborhood became too hot for him he could simply pull up stakes and "drift" to some other part of the country; nobody to my knowledge in those days ever heard of a substantial citizen being guilty of that sort of conduct.—Exchange.

There has been a decrease in the total number of stallions and jacks every year since 1915, but the date of decline slackened somewhat in 1921. Fourteen states having an enrollment of 40,121 stallions in 1915, had only 18,002 in 1921, a decrease of 55.8 per cent. The stallions in 18 states in 1921, 74.2 per cent were purebred. In 1915, only 60 per cent were registered sires. As the numbers decrease the quality improves. Farmers are finding that it pays to raise only good horses and mules.

The number of stallions of the light breeds has been decreasing more rapidly than the number of draft stallions. The total of jacks has been increasing gradually until the last year, when there was a slight decrease. There has been a striking increase in the actual number of purebreds. The change in the ratio of jacks to stallions is a fairly accurate measure of the popularity of the mule. Twenty-nine per cent of the total number of stallions and jacks enrolled for public service in 15 states in 1921 were jacks, while in 10 states in 1915 only 9.8 per cent were jacks.

Several states have recently enacted enrollment legislation that should lead to further improvement of breeding stock and the general run of work.

Purebred Stallions of Size and Quality.

stock. Pennsylvania and Indiana now permit the use of only purebred stallions and jacks for public service. They also disqualify stallions and jacks that are unsound or of such inferior type or conformation that they may prove a detriment to the horse-breeding interests of these states. Michigan, also, has passed a similar law that will become operative January 1, 1923.

A copy of the complete report on stallion enrollment may be obtained by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

BALANCED FEEDS MAKE MEAT
With Suitable Rations and Careful Supervision Farmer Should Make Hogs Pay.

There is no place on the farm where it will pay the farmer for keeping his weather-eye peeled, and his think tank active, as when he is feeding his domestic animals. Balanced rations will help to turn coarse feeds into high-priced meat products, but along with balanced rations must go balanced personal supervision. With both, the farmer who can't make money raising hogs in these days has something to learn.

GIVE PIGS PLENTY EXERCISE
Animals That Have Range and Plenty of Exercise Will Be sturdy and Healthy.

Pigs that are shut in small, dry yards do not do as well as those that have pasture range. A pig that has plenty of exercise may not be quite as fat as his shut-in relative but he will invariably be much sturdier and healthier.

Lack of Protein
The lack of protein causes animals to shed their hair late in the spring, and causes them to fatten slowly during the early pasture season. The feeding of straw likewise causes this condition.

Good Mixture for Lambs.
Lambs should begin to nibble at grain when about two weeks of age. A good mixture is ground corn two parts, crushed oats two parts, linseed meal one part, wheat bran one part.

HAVE STAKE IN COMMUNITY

Home-owning Citizens Feel Responsibility of Their Position and Govern Themselves Accordingly.

It almost goes without saying that home ownership is by far the most valuable adjunct to government and that the former is a tremendous power in stabilizing the latter. The nomad constantly desires change, because wherever he pitches his tent he considers himself to be at home. On the other hand, the responsible property owner abhors nothing so much as change, because his hearth is not one which can be moved and which would be the last thing he would wish to see affected. The classic illustration, which has been used before this by many writers, is that of Alexander's conquest of Persia; this country was a constant source of civil war and rebellion until, acting upon the advice of one of the philosophers attached to his court, Alexander saw to it that the Persians became a nation of shopkeepers, which in turn caused them to set up permanent dwellings and ultimately to become the most peaceful and law-abiding citizens. The irresponsible cowboy was inclined in the old days to shoot-up frontier towns, since if the neighborhood became too hot for him he could simply pull up stakes and "drift" to some other part of the country; nobody to my knowledge in those days ever heard of a substantial citizen being guilty of that sort of conduct.—Exchange.

WORK WITH DEFINITE OBJECT

Real Estate Men Have Right Idea in Their Advocacy of Zoning System for Cities.

The value and the salability of real estate depends upon what? Mostly upon the skill with which it is subdivided; upon the transportation facilities, the utilities and the street system which serve it; upon the parks and recreation facilities available to it; upon its outlook; upon the business and social wealth, and producing capacity to the community; and upon the protection given it against offensive use of neighboring property, says Jacob L. Crane Jr., zoning and city planning engineer and adviser on zoning for the Chicago Real Estate board.

The last of these factors is controlled by zoning. All the others may be controlled very largely by city planning, which deals with all of these things in a definite and comprehensive way. The real estate business, therefore, like all other business, to a large degree depends on the results of city planning, whenever it is taken up. This explains why real estate men are so vitally interested in the subject, and why they are usually the first ones to support city planning and zoning projects.

Aim to Prevent Fire Loss.

Let the city fire department be as efficient as is that of the district. There still remains much for the average citizen to do in preventing fire. After all, prevention is better than cure in this matter, as in all others. Even as modern medicine is coming around to a serious campaign throughout the nation to prevent illness, rather than cure it after it occurs, so a city may campaign strenuously to prevent fires before they break out.

The responsibility of the individual man, woman or child, therefore, is the crux of the matter. Until, through educating the public in every way possible to the necessity of such prevention, the average person is made to be always on the watch for incipient fires and actively thinking about them, a community is not true to itself along these lines.

What greater absurdity, for instance, than allowing a carelessly thrown match to set fire to a great building and then calling out half the fire-fighting equipment of a city, when the active thought of the man who threw the match might have prevented the whole thing?—Washington Star.

Schools Use Busses.

There are 12,000 schools in the United States now using busses to transport their pupils. The day of the little red schoolhouse is numbered. Consolidated or community schools are taking their place because of the increased educational facilities and standard permitted by pooling of appropriations. Better buildings, better equipment, better instruction are the immediate result. But with consolidation comes the factor of distance, so busses were the answer and this form of transportation is making good for better education.—From Federal Traffic News.

Teeth-Grinding and Adenoids.

Among 2,395 collected cases of adenoid growths, Benjamin's states grinding the teeth was mentioned in 801 cases. Out of 1,791 personal cases Benjamin found: Snoring, 1,065 times; impaired hearing, 908 times; catarrh of the upper air passages, 878 times; grinding the teeth, 618 times; apnoea (inability to concentrate the mind), 566 times; enuresis, 462 times. Removal of the adenoids does not, however, always give relief from these symptoms.

When King George Ate Kentucky Ham

A short time before his death Lord Northcliffe invited King George to dinner. The agreement was that he was to give the English ruler a feast such as he had never sat down to before.

The King came and the dinner was served. In its proper course one of Trigg County's famous hams was brought on the table. The King was delighted. Never had he tasted anything equal to it.

"My grandmother, Queen Victoria, used to buy her hams in America, but never have I tasted anything like this."

Do you want to know more about the story of the world-famous Trigg County Hams? Never enough to supply the demand. You are lucky if you can get one.
